

John Pineau is the Strategist for OZZbox3.com, a film portal to see the unseen, and he is the Founder of the company that produces it, OZZ Media Corp. OZZbox3.com enables CEO's to build trust through stories that align company missions with personal ones.

John is skilled in both strategic planning and execution, which enables him to address opportunities through project planning and concept development, budgeting, team assembly, brand development and public input for continued improvement and growth.

John earned a Master In City Planning from the University of Manitoba in 1990. He was recognized with the Merit Award by the regional chapter of the Canadian Institute of Planners. The Canadian Institute of Planners certified him in 1994.

OZZbox3.com is a film portal to see the unseen.

After earning a masters degree in city planning, John worked in economic land use planning where innovative approaches were impeded by legacy systems holding progress back. Determined to overcome, John set out on a journey to build the future with people inside and outside the boardroom. As he applied his approach to various industries, he recognized that while a wide range of stories inspired people, strategic plan execution frustrated important corporate activities.

And so the architecture for OZZbox3.com began.

John was managed a media project for GE Capital, which was used to explain a new financial services product for national sales meeting in Whistler, Canada

The Strategist (Again)

John also leveraged his strategic planning skills to build entertainment businesses including a jazz funk club, which generated over two million dollars in first-year revenue, and became known as a hangout of the stars, along with a whole bunch of regular people who enjoyed rich red martinis in fancy glasses with Cuban cigars in hand, not of which was illegal at the time.

Movie Maker

John Pineau was Co-Producer of The Rhino Brothers, an award winning hokey movie about hockey. The Rhino Brothers won in the Top Independent category at Worldfest in Houston, Texas, and the Leo Award for Best Actress.

John was responsible for the business plan, legal, industry investor pitches in Los Angeles and New York, authoring the media relations plan which produced editorial exposure, authoring the film festival strategy, negotiating copyright agreements with Sony, and product agreements with Nike, CCM, & Molson's Brewery.

“Aside from its genuine entertainment value, The Rhino Brothers is a meaty and thoughtful movie. It engages you as you watch it, and leaves you thinking about it after.”

National Post – Jeet Heer

John was also Producer of The Freedom To Play, a recruitment tool for the Winnipeg Rifles Football Club that highlighted how The Royal Winnipeg Rifle Regiment enabled our freedoms. John partnered with the late Rifles Co-Founder, James Ladd.

Movie Maker (Again)

John produced, wrote, and performed in a prototype film & music series called Sky Scrapin:

“This series of historical vignettes are a credit to Pineau’s style: He keeps the characters’ dialog spare and humble; telling the Gregorash story with the right points and emotions without going over the top or preaching. (The fact he bills the videos and text as ‘fairly correct’ is a nod to creative license.) Compare this to the too-many-to-count corporate websites online today declaring that such-and-such company is the “World’s Best...” in high-flown egomaniacal praise that God would blush to hear applied to Himself, and Gregorash’s video vignettes are actually a welcome relief.”
